Kaustav,

Please don't let emotions influence your decisions.

Acknowledge that you understand and accept your roles and responsibilities.

If you require any relaxation or exception to the policy, please submit it as a separate formal request via email. We will review it and respond accordingly.

FACE Prep is committed to supporting the growth and development of every employee. It is important that you remain emotionally stable, stay focused on your responsibilities, and continue to be yourself while contributing positively to the organization.

The choice is now yours on how you move forward professionally.

Tamil,

Kindly leaf through the previous JD which was provided to me as well as the offer letter.

There was no verbal agreements as I clearly stated that I would wait for a structured official JD and I mentioned, "I will state my decision after I get the official JD", which is the reason for floating this email today.

In addition;
I understand "the expectations are aligned with organizational requirements"; however multiple things in the documents mentioned above are clearly misaligned with the "HR Policy Manual 2020". I'm willing to send an annotated document to highlight the same if you are interested.

Kaustav,

These are the discussion points that were already covered verbally and agreed upon. Going forward, the expectations are aligned with organizational requirements, and we will not be able to accommodate individual preferences in this regard.

The responsibilities of a Subject Matter Expert have been clearly outlined, and it is important to adhere to and align with them.

We would like to avoid revisiting the same points multiple times and ensure smooth progress ahead.

In reference to my original offer letter dated December 31, 2024, and the accompanying Subject Matter Expert - Data Science Job Description, I am writing to highlight areas in the newly outlined responsibilities that constitute a significant expansion of my role.

The following tasks are extra to my original role scope:

- Direct Student Instruction: You now require that I "conduct online classes for students". My previous JD was limited to mentoring trainers and designing curriculum, not direct delivery to students.
- Marketing/Public Relations Delivery: The new JD requires me to "participate in and deliver webinars or industry expert sessions for colleges". This is an added promotional function not originally present.
- Content Creation vs. Design: The new JD requires "developing content", whereas my original JD focused on high-level instructional design and course architecture. I was providing supporting/curated materials till now; This is a shift from design to time-intensive creation. Also, recording adds a significant load to the device as well.
- Expanded Training Scope: I am now expected to "train the mentors being onboarded," including freshers and experienced candidates. My original JD was focused on coaching existing trainers on curriculum usage, not generic HR-related onboarding. I have complied with this for a while as the load was manageable however due to the inflexibility I have been facing, it would be hard and we should work around something.
- Ad hoc tasks: The generic inclusion of "other ad hoc tasks... as required" was not present in the original, structured JD.

I would like to have a discussion about Quantitative Workload Caps, Comp-Offs, Hardware Maintenance Allowance and miscellaneous to support the added responsibilities.

P.s. I have not attached the documents JD[1], Offer Letter[2] as it is supposed to be stored in the company repository as well.

Tamil,

Kindly leaf through the previous JD which was provided to me as well as the offer letter.

There was no verbal agreements as I clearly stated that I would wait for a structured official JD and I mentioned, "I will state my decision after I get the official JD", which is the reason for floating this email today.

In addition;

I understand "the expectations are aligned with organizational requirements"; however multiple things in the documents mentioned above are clearly misaligned with the "HR Policy Manual 2020". I'm willing to send an annotated document to highlight the same if you are interested.

Kaustav,

These are the discussion points that were already covered verbally and agreed upon. Going forward, the expectations are aligned with organizational requirements, and we will not be able to accommodate individual preferences in this regard.

The responsibilities of a Subject Matter Expert have been clearly outlined, and it is important to adhere to and align with them.

We would like to avoid revisiting the same points multiple times and ensure smooth progress ahead.

Hi Tamil,

I was intending to receive an official JD however this also works.

In reference to my original offer letter dated December 31, 2024, and the accompanying Subject Matter Expert - Data Science Job Description, I am writing to highlight areas in the newly outlined responsibilities that constitute a significant expansion of my role.

The following tasks are extra to my original role scope:

- Direct Student Instruction: You now require that I "conduct online classes for students". My previous JD was limited to mentoring trainers and designing curriculum, not direct delivery to students.
- Marketing/Public Relations Delivery: The new JD requires me to "participate in and deliver webinars or industry expert sessions for colleges". This is an added promotional function not originally present.
- Content Creation vs. Design: The new JD requires "developing content" , whereas my original JD focused on high-level instructional design and course architecture. I was providing supporting/curated materials till now; This is a shift from design to time-intensive creation. Also, recording adds a significant load to the device as well.
- Expanded Training Scope: I am now expected to "train the mentors being onboarded," including freshers and experienced candidates. My original JD was focused on coaching existing trainers on curriculum usage, not generic HR-related onboarding. I have complied with this for a while as the load was manageable however due to the inflexibility I have been facing, it would be hard and we should work around something.
- Ad hoc tasks: The generic inclusion of "other ad hoc tasks... as required" was not present in the original, structured JD.

I would like to have a discussion about Quantitative Workload Caps, Comp-Offs, Hardware Maintenance Allowance and miscellaneous to support the added responsibilities.

P.s. I have not attached the documents JD[1], Offer Letter[2] as it is supposed to be stored in the company repository as well.

Tamil,

Kindly leaf through the previous JD which was provided to me as well as the offer letter.

There was no verbal agreements as I clearly stated that I would wait for a structured official JD and I mentioned, "I will state my decision after I get the official JD", which is the reason for floating this email today.

In addition;

I understand "the expectations are aligned with organizational requirements"; however multiple things in the documents mentioned above are clearly misaligned with the "HR Policy Manual 2020". I'm willing to send an annotated document to highlight the same if you are interested.

These are the discussion points that were already covered verbally and agreed upon. Going forward, the expectations are aligned with organizational requirements, and we will not be able to accommodate individual preferences in this regard.

The responsibilities of a Subject Matter Expert have been clearly outlined, and it is important to adhere to and align with them.

We would like to avoid revisiting the same points multiple times and ensure smooth progress ahead.

My original JD was focused on coaching existing trainers on curriculum usage, not generic HR-related onboarding. I have complied with this for a while as the load was manageable however due to the inflexibility I have been facing, it would be hard and we should work around something.
- Ad hoc tasks: The generic inclusion of "other ad hoc tasks... as required" was not present in the original, structured JD.

I would like to have a discussion about Quantitative Workload Caps, Comp-Offs, Hardware Maintenance Allowance and miscellaneous to support the added responsibilities.

Hi Tamil,

I hope this email finds you well.

I was intending to receive an official JD however this also works.

In reference to my original offer letter dated December 31, 2024, and the accompanying Subject Matter Expert - Data Science Job Description, I am writing to highlight areas in the newly outlined responsibilities that constitute a significant expansion of my role.

The following tasks are extra to my original role scope:

- Direct Student Instruction: You now require that I "conduct online classes for students". My previous JD was limited to mentoring trainers and designing curriculum, not direct delivery to students.
- Marketing/Public Relations Delivery: The new JD requires me to "participate in and deliver webinars or industry expert sessions for colleges". This is an added promotional function not originally present.
- Content Creation vs. Design: The new JD requires "developing content" , whereas my original JD focused on high-level instructional design and course architecture. I was providing supporting/curated materials till now; This is a shift from design to time-intensive creation. Also, recording adds a significant load to the device as well.
- Expanded Training Scope: I am now expected to "train the mentors being onboarded," including freshers and experienced candidates. My original JD was focused on coaching existing trainers on curriculum usage, not generic HR-related onboarding. I have complied with this for a while as the load was manageable however due to the inflexibility I have been facing, it would be hard and we should work around something.
- Ad hoc tasks: The generic inclusion of "other ad hoc tasks... as required" was not present in the original, structured JD.

I would like to have a discussion about Quantitative Workload Caps, Comp-Offs, Hardware Maintenance Allowance and miscellaneous to support the added responsibilities.

P.s. I have not attached the documents JD[1], Offer Letter[2] as it is supposed to be stored in the company repository as well.

Regards,
Kaustav Basu
